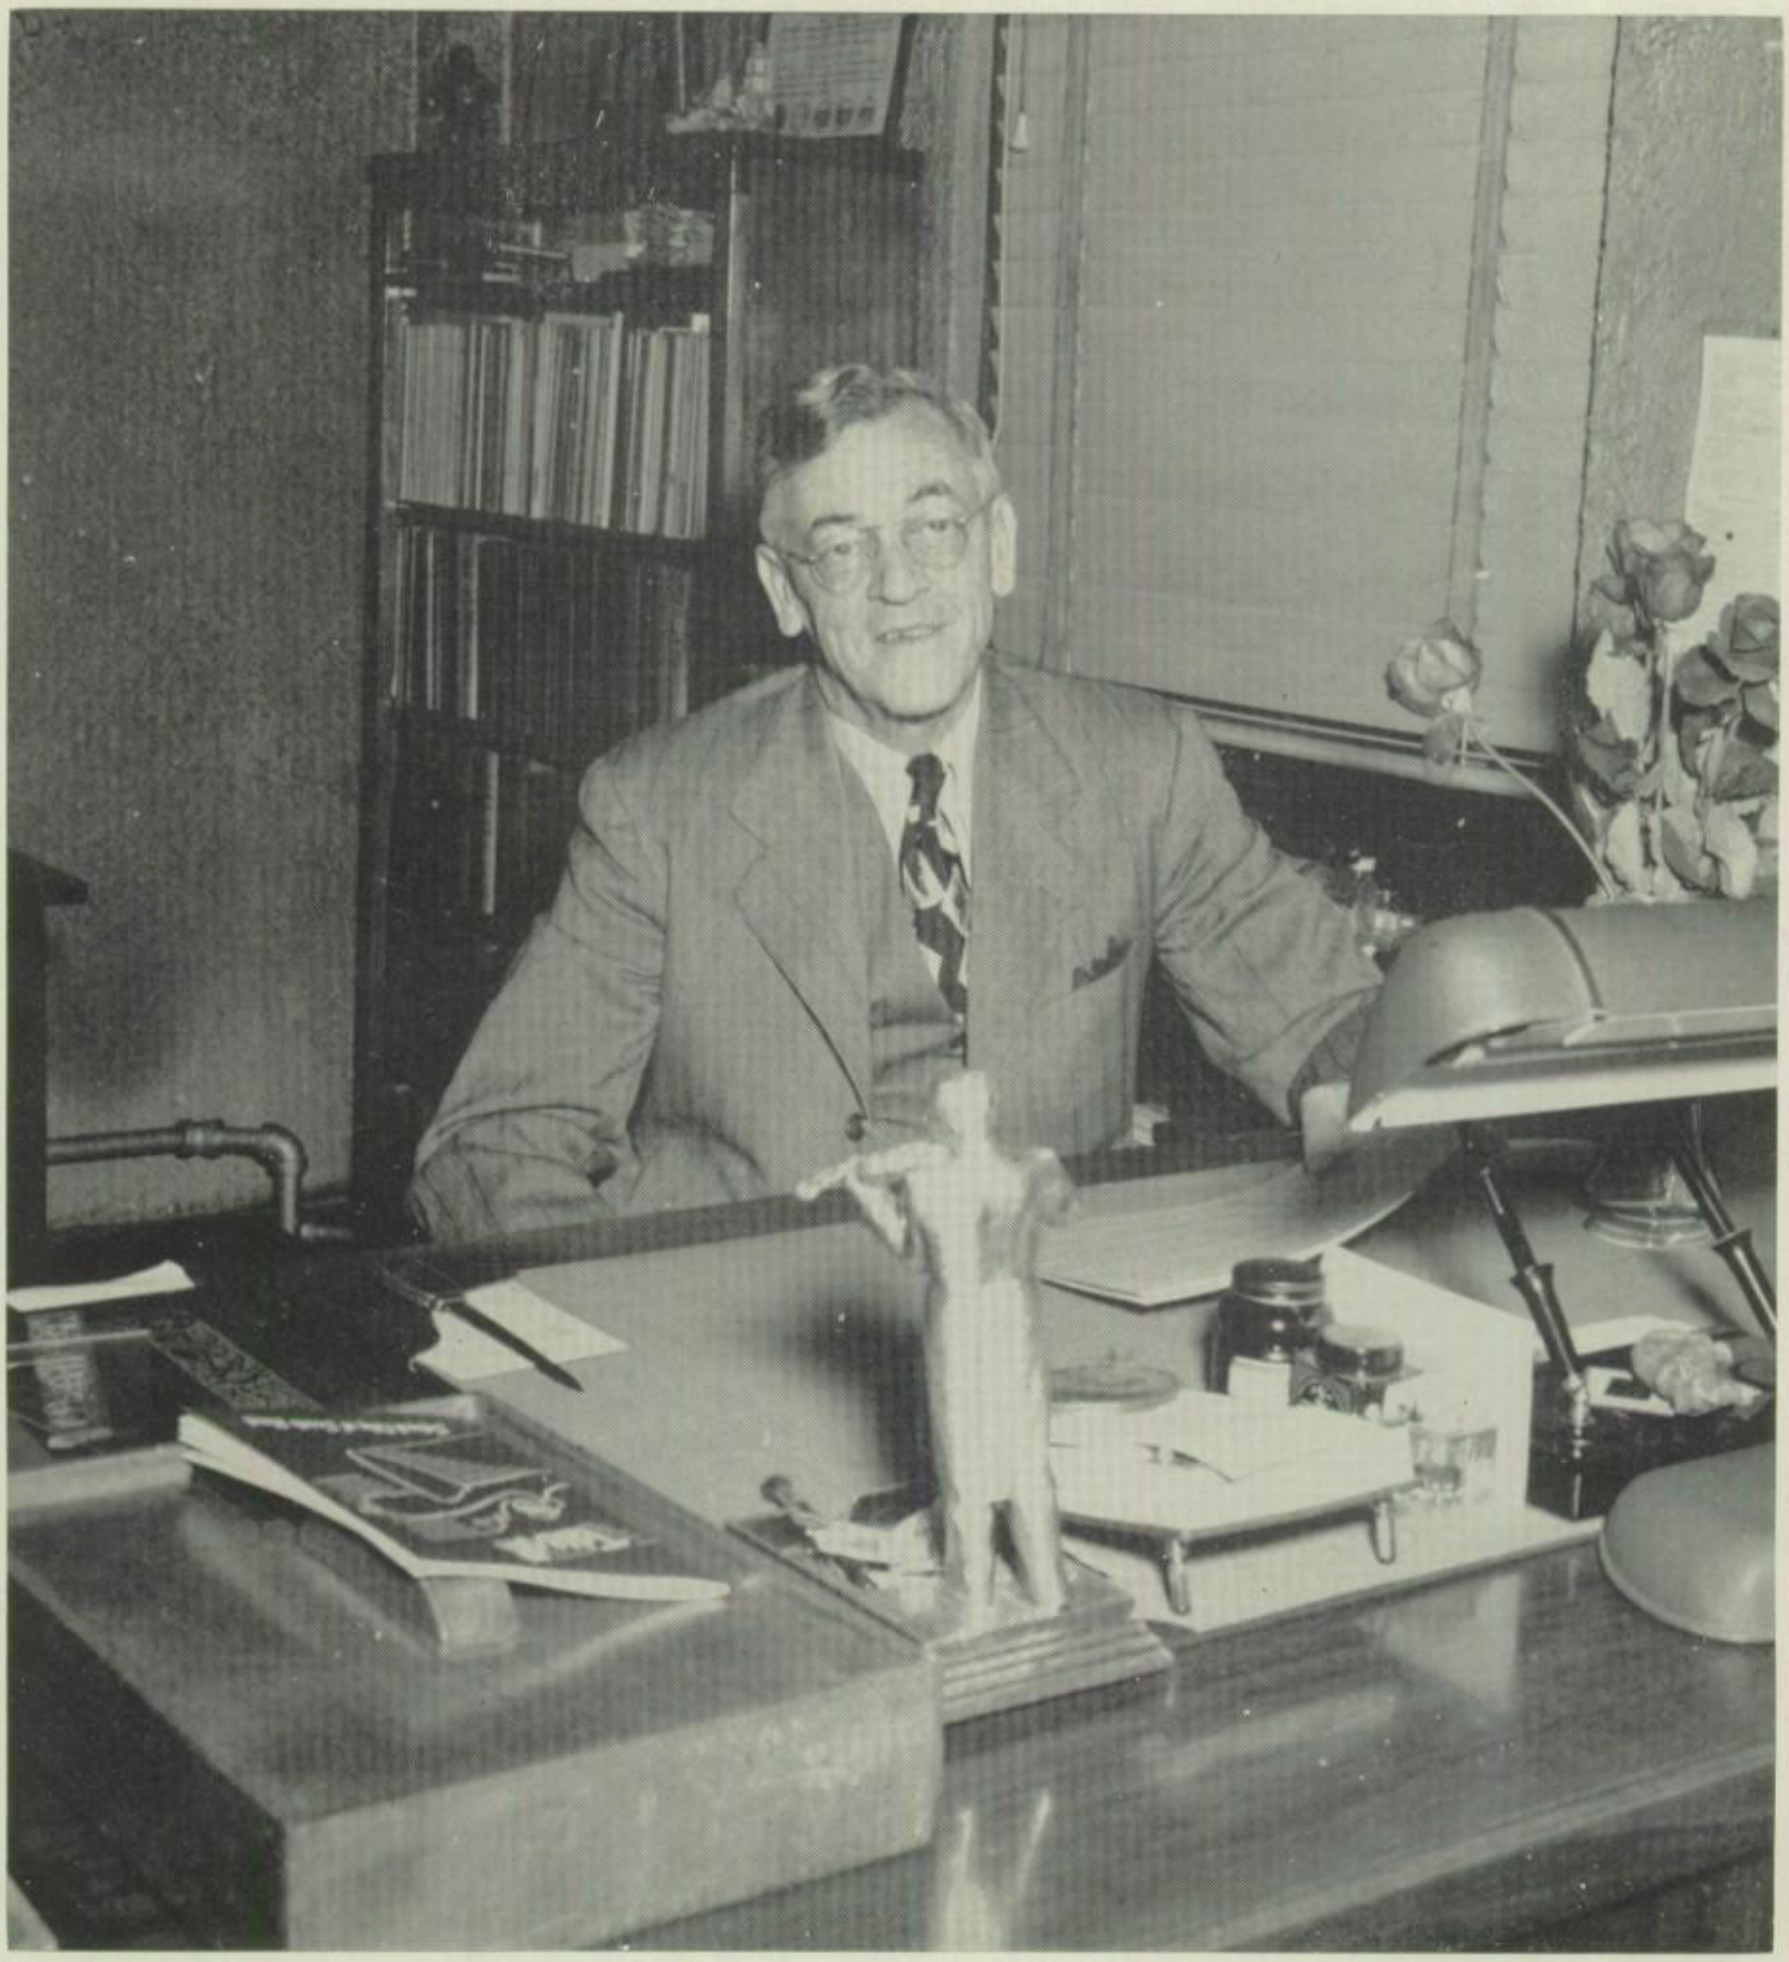
Chief Wagon Train Boss

R. NELSON SNIDER, our principal, guides our wagon train through the perilous Indian territory so that we may reach the gold-laden opportunities beyond South Side.



The Law West of the Pecos

MERLE J. ABBETT, our city school superintendent, heads the good system of schools in Fort Wayne through which we have come. From these schools we advance into colleges and into life in the world . . . to bigger and better claims.

Sheriff of Green Gulch

MARTHA M. PITTENGER, our dean, aids us over the rough spots on our trip to bigger claims by helping us improve our characters and personalities so that we can travel farther after we leave South Side.

Land Officer

PAUL SIDELL, our guidance director, files our claims carefully so that he can help us plan our future college and business careers.

The General Office staff: Frances Stobaugh, Marquita Baker Yager, and Mary Jane Grabner.

The Cafeteria co-workers: Mrs. Alice Koehler, Mrs. Linna Chronister, Mrs. Mary Deel, and Mrs. George Doehla.

They Record the Claims

Our capable general office staff secretaries, Frances Stobaugh, Mary Jane Grabner, and Marquita Baker Yager, keep our claims carefully so that we do not lose any of the valuable gold which we have earned at South Side.

The janitorial staff looks after the sanitation and cleanliness of our school. In addition, they help us produce finer assemblies, plays, and other special activities.

The Custodians: Herman Dryer, Dessie Spears, Henry Bredemeyer, Jerry Motherwell, Edward Smith, and Charles Winkler.

The cafeteria staff, headed by Miss Lucy Mellen, provide the students in this big school with well-balanced meals so that we are able to forge onward to the bigger claims which lie ahead.

This efficient engineering staff sees to it that the general store stove is burning brightly and that everything in our school is in good working order.

The Engineers: Joseph Hansen and Newt Cameron.

Prospectors

1849 . . . "Hitch up the covered wagon, ma! We're a headin' West!" To get West, the pioneers of the frontier had to suffer many hardships on their long search for gold, and few of them found it.

1949 . . . "California or bust on one good thumb." Hitchhiking to South Side for a few short years is all we need to do to strike real gold, the nuggets of wisdom and the gold of friendship.

They've Made Their Strike

The '49ers have made their strike. After four years of hard work they have struck it rich. Graduation is the climax of their memorable days at South Side.

Even though graduation for the seniors is the crossroads of schooling, the parting of friends, and the stepping off point to higher education and bigger claims, fond memories will ever hold them together.

Their sophomore party, The '49ers, was one to top all parties. No senior will ever forget the tearing down of the decorations after they were pronounced a fire hazard. This, however, did not dampen anyone's spirits as a glorious time was had by all.

In their junior year, their Junior Banquet; a Chinese Festival; and their Junior Prom, a Garden of Romance, gave them something to cherish forever.

The '49ers carried through the theme presented by the year of their graduation by giving their Senior Banquet the very appropriate name, The Last Roundup.

Yes, this class has done many things unprecedented in the history of the school. In choosing the class officers they elected Bonnie Schemehorn as the first girl ever to hold the office of senior class president. To assist her, they put into office Doug Lawrence as vice-president, Dick Brett as secretary, Stan Knapp as social council chairman with Tom Jones and Beach Hall as social council members.

As the senior class of 1949 passes through the portals of South Side they can look back with pride, knowing that their four years were years not spent in vain.

They Struck it Rich

EACH year, not more than fifteen per cent of the graduating class is tagged for membership in National Honor Society. They are chosen by the faculty on the basis of Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service.

AN honor sought by seniors each year is inclusion in the Four-Year Honor Roll. This list consists of all seniors who have attended a Fort Wayne public high school for at least three years and have maintained an average of 90 or above.

'49er Popularity

"Mirror, Mirror, on the wall, tell me who is the fairest of them all." Our Mirror, in the form of class polls, not only told us the fairest—but it cast some light on many other "bests."

On the opposite page in the upper left picture are Tom Jones and Helen Litchin, voted the most perfect gentleman and most perfect lady. With that title, it is quite certain that Tom was just getting ready to help Helen get a drink as the photographer snapped them.

Below them are "Martha and Noel", shyly smiling, at the camera. Yes, Martha Fulton and Noel Stouder were again chosen by their classmates as the cutest couple.

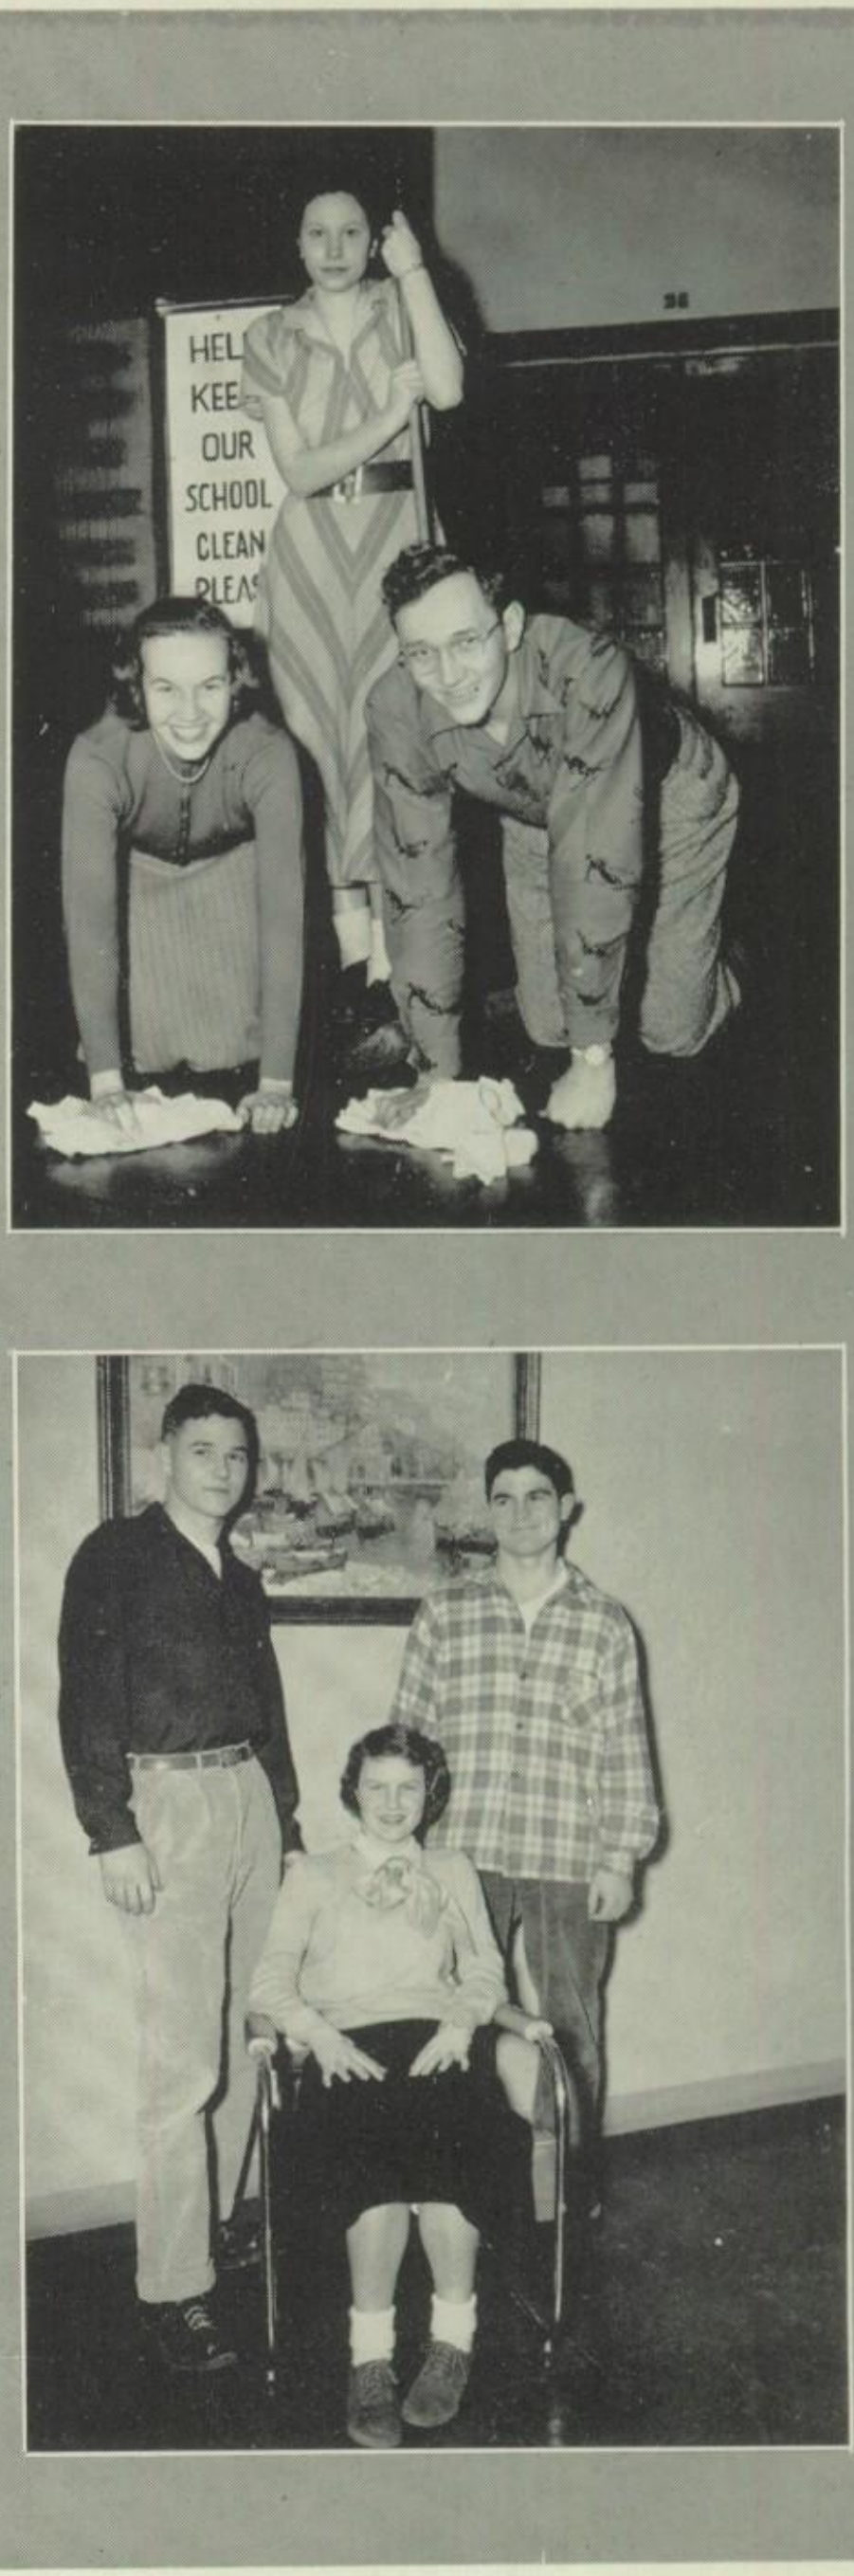
In the upper right corner, Jim Laymon and Dorcas MacKay could very well be composing some sort of a "concerto." Dorcas is the senior class' best girl musician while Jim tied with Tom Jones as the best boy musician.

Below them, in the lower right picture, Bill Beery and Dorothy Trempel are getting ready for a very serious game of basketball. Bill, the best boy athlete, and Dorothy, the best girl athlete, would star in any athletic sport.

In the center picture, Vic Turpchinoff and Dick Brett seem to be thoroughly enjoying their respective titles of girl with the best personality and boy with the best personality.

On this page, in the upper right picture, are some very industrious workers. They, no doubt, are planning to work their way up in this world the hard way. On the floor we find Carolyn Scholer, who tied with Ruth Makey as the girl who has done the most for the school, with Beach Hall, rag in hand beside her. Beach was voted the boy most likely to succeed and also the boy who has done the most for the school. Ruth Makey, standing, is considered the girl most likely to succeed.

In the lower right picture, Bonnie Schemehorn, voted the cutest girl, is flanked by those two handsome seniors, Stan Knapp and Doug Lawrence, who tied for honors as the most handsome boy.



The Ivy Day Procession . . . Crowning the Ivy Queen . . . Planting the Ivy . . . The Senior Reception . . .

Every year near the end of May the seniors elect an Ivy Queen and four attendants.

Ivy Day consists of a procession around the school led by the queen and her attendants, the crowning of the queen, and the planting of the ivy.

Joan Ludwig was last year's Ivy Queen while Ellen Goble, Beverly Yates, Marcia Mast, and Marilyn Lagemann served as her attendants.

Another highlight of the senior year is the Senior Reception.

All the seniors' parents are invited to the reception. Here they become acquainted with other senior parents, the class advisers, and many of the teachers.

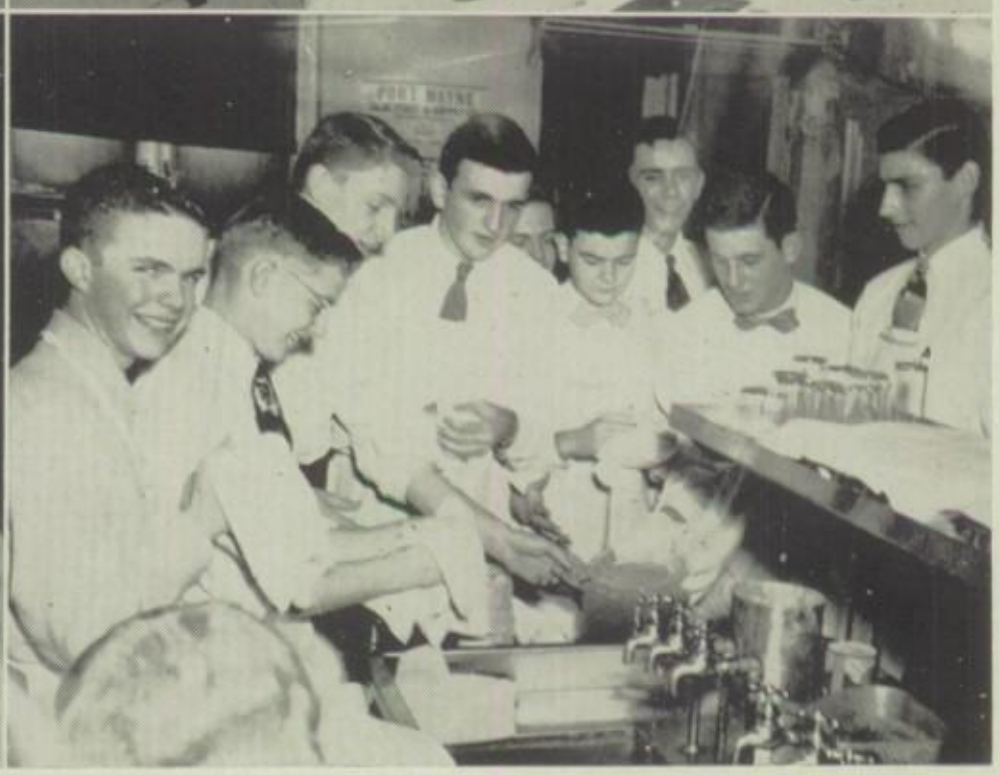
Upper right: Bob Mossman crowns the Ivy Queen, Joan Ludwig, as two of the queen's attendants, Ellen Goble and Marcia Mast, watch in approval.

Lower left: Charles Stein carries on the old tradition of planting an ivy plant by the school each year.

Lower right: A record-breaking crowd of seniors and their parents appeared at the annual Senior Reception. Only a few of the many guests can be seen at the serving table.



The Senior Advisers . . . The Senior Banquet . . . The Senior Dance . . . The Senior Reception . . .

Pasteboard stars and crepe paper roses together with dancing underneath a network sky spells only one thing —the Senior Dance. Weeks of planning and hard work go into making each year's Senior Dance the best one ever.

No year would be complete without the Senior Banquet. This year's banquet was kept lively through humorous incidents related by such student speakers as Bonnie Schemehorn, Tina Lazoff, Rosemary Liechty, Doug Lawrence, Dorothy Trempel, Clark Filley, and Vollmar Fries. The singing of Wayne Jarvis kept everyone in high spirits.

Upper right: From all appearances, it looks as if Bonnie Schemehorn has just finished relating one of her humorous stories at the Senior Banquet. Tina Lazoff and Mr. Abbett (in foreground) seem to like it.

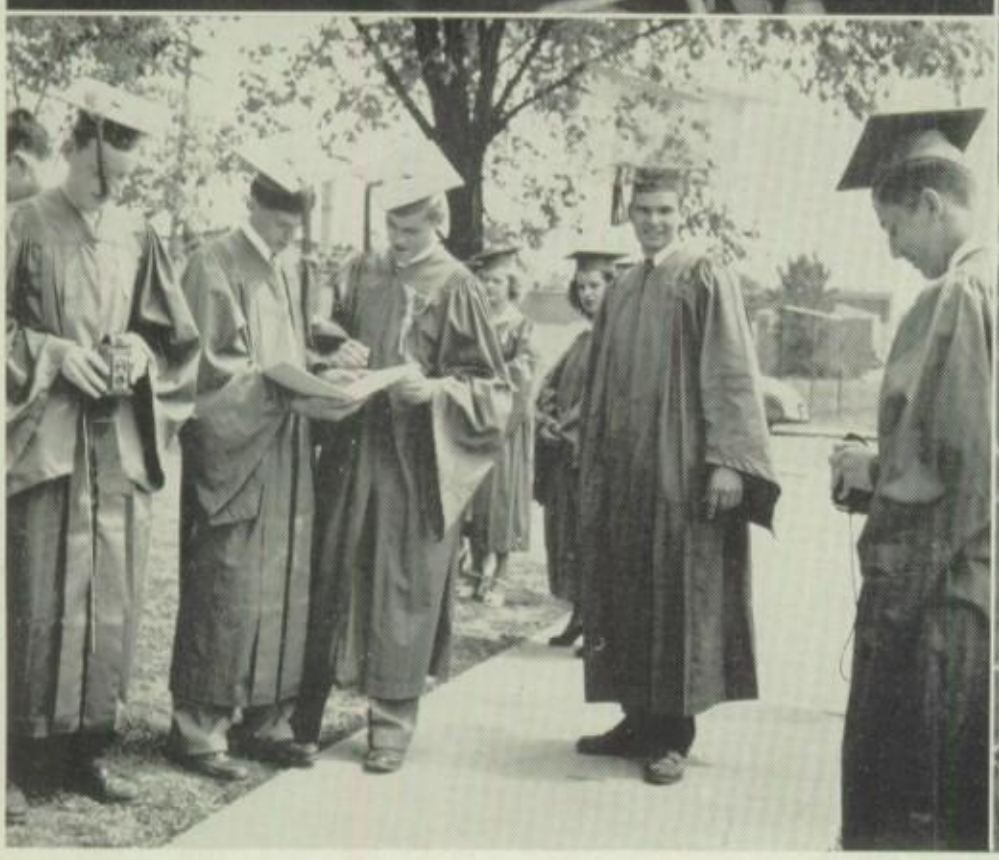
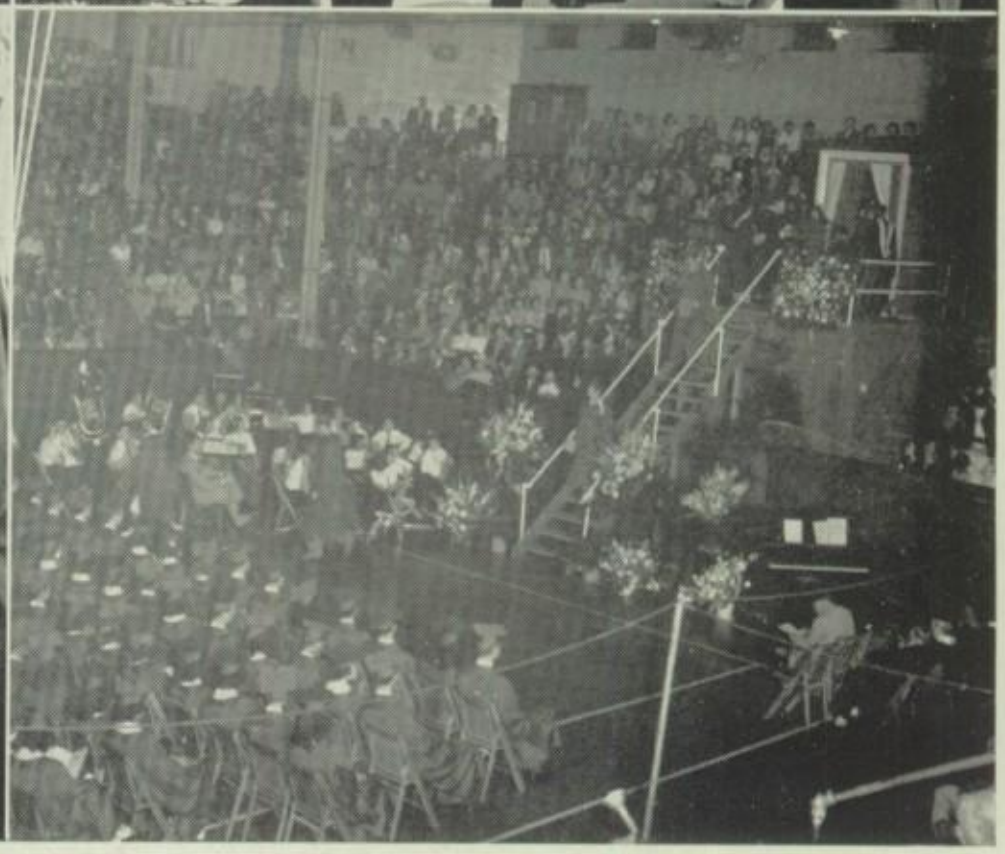
Lower right: The serving table at the Senior Reception would have been without dishes if it hadn't been for these industrious lads who really pitched in and helped.





The Senior Reception . . . Taking Snapshots . . . Signing Totems . . . Commencement . . .

There is something about a senior that distinguishes him from everyone else. A senior has a certain worldliness about him. A few days before graduation, seniors show all their superiority by attending classes in their caps and gowns.

Commencement — that long-sought goal is finally reached on an evening in June. A South Side commencement has many traditions connected with it. There are the annual speeches, the marching in to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance, and the experience of walking down the steep steps after receiving one's diploma.

Upper right: Seniors have a right to be happy on those sunny days in June. Gene Springer, Joan Ludwig, Susie Fishering, and Marilyn Newman (back to camera) are not exceptions.

Lower left: More gowned seniors can be seen signing Totems and taking pictures which will be treasured forever.

Lower right: Commencement exercises are the solemn culmination of four years of study.

Ted:

You are a darn nice guy and just loads of fun. I have spent many of enjoyable evenings with you. (your girlfriends & Jim) Remember the Drive-In? Also the trips to Conway. Thanks a lot for bringing Pie Face down to see me. It was sure swell of you. Mayby we can do it again somtime. Do you think so, Mayby. Remember the night Sue drove?? That is an evening I'll never forget, along with all the rest of the good times we have had by just doubling with you. Good Luck in everything you do. May the future bring many happy days, for both you & me. Be a good boy, & I'll be looking forward to doing things with you & your girl in the near future.

As ever

1849 . . . For most of their lives, the old prospector of the big Gold Rush panned tons of gravel but found little gold.

1949 . . . The gravel to be panned in the stream of knowledge is rich if we have the patience and courage to stick to the job.

Following the Lode Star

Upper right: The juniors chose Norman Fryback and Ann Koenecke the top athletes by a wide margin.

Center left: The results of the polls were favorable for Beverly Morris, cutest girl; and Helen Bennett, girl with the best personality. Helen also tied for most perfect lady. Standing are Dean Smith, most handsome boy; and Arnie Hofmann, boy with the best personality.

Center right: Most talented in the field of music are Duncan Whitaker and Sonia Evanoff.

Lower left: The cutest couple proved to be Nancy Karns and Everett Tunget. Everett was also elected the busiest boy.

Lower right: The busiest girl by an overwhelming majority is Jerry Dreisbach. With her are Susan McNabb, who tied for most perfect lady, and Jim Reinhard, who took honors as most perfect gentleman and tied for the title of busiest boy.

The roving photographer caught this snap in center hall after school of three seniors, Ned Stinson and Joan Brant, and around the corner from them, Ruth Hoham, conversing with unseen personalities.

'Round the Campfire

1849 . . . On the long road to California, the pioneers gathered around the campfire night after night, seeking to forget the fears and hardships of the journey in music and companionship.

1949 . . . Students of South Side, like the pioneer forebearers, forget the terrors of exams in the relaxation of the dance.

Let's take a look at some of this year's club meetings and activities . . .

Choir . . .

Talk about South Side and sooner or later our choir comes into the conversation, for our well-known vesper choir is an integral part of the school. Truly, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians have nothing on Lester Hostetler and his brood of nightingales and Carusos.

Not only is the vesper choir popular with us for the beautiful job it does in assemblies and music concerts, but it is popular in the community. It yearly gives performances for many churches, civic, and social groups. It was quite an occasion when the choir joined with the Indiana Men's Choir for an excellent finale to an excellent program. Perhaps the choir is proudest of its six radio programs given for the first time during the 1948 Christmas season.

Due thanks should be given to the soloists who presented us with many outstanding renditions. Marilyn Stettler was the soprano soloist, Connie Weisman the alto, and Wayne Jarvis the tenor. These three with Bob Schmeding and Gordon Kruse, basses, made up the quintet which sang Christmas carols through the halls of South. Sue Bergman played several piano solos while Dorcas MacKay, between her successful public appearances, has served as piano soloist and accompanist.

It is hard to tell whether the choir under Hossy's baton is a musical group, one big family, or a snazzy club. However, they do have officers. Those who have served this year are Connie Weisman, secretary; Bob Hutner, business manager; Phyllis Schonefeld, librarian; and Louann Seng, organist.

MR. LESTER HOSTETLER

Incidentally, notice the choir's new formals bought with money they have earned in their public appearances during the past five years.

Band and Orchestra . . .

For musically minded Archers, the orchestra and band under Mr. Robert Drummond's direction offer many opportunities.

The orchestra's familiar classical and semi-classical selections presented at the music assemblies proved to be well liked by everyone.

A part of the orchestra is the string ensemble which is in demand particularly for outside performances at teas and dinners. The officers of this group are Carolyn Scholer, president; Stanley Greene, vice-president; and Pauline Beeler, secretary. The soloists were Lorraine Frykberg, concert mistress, and Marilyn Rheinfrank.

The band has always been a favorite organization at South Side because of the fine programs its plays for our basketball games and the marching presented between halves of our football games.

With the start of the basketball season, the majorettes took over the halftime demonstrations and entertained the crowds with many clever formations.

Officers of the band were Bill Jones, captain; Martha Chambers, librarian; Sonia Evanoff, secretary; and Duncan Whitaker, quartermaster.

Monday nights and the Philalethian gavel calling this popular literary club to order are almost synonymous in the minds of the upperclass Archer girls. Under Miss Demaree's direction, they read and hear reviewed many of the finest pieces of literature. Also, for those who wish, a chance to do original writing for competition is offered.

36 Workshop . . . producers of fine assemblies

Under the capable direction of Miss Lucy Osborne, the members of 36 Workshop plan most of the assemblies. Through their four departments, script writing; presentation, including speech, drama, and stagecraft; publicity; and business, they handle all of the necessary work to present the fine assemblies which we have had this year.

In the upper left picture, a regular meeting of the active and inactive club members is in session. These meetings are held every other week to hear special speakers. Miss Blanche Hutto, former art teacher and teacher in charge of assemblies at South Side, and Harvey Cox Collins, graduate of South Side and a member of the cast in the New York production, Life With Father, were heard by the workshop this year.

Santa Claus gave all of the kiddies a pleasant surprise as he came bounding down the chimney with beautiful presents for everybody at our Christmas assembly, shown in the lower right picture.

More pictures of assemblies produced by 36 Workshop may be seen on page seventy-eight.

Math-Science . . . Service . . . Booster . . . Travel . . . Library . . .

Two of the speakers whom the Math-Science Club invited to address their programs this year were Mr. Antony Wright, chief television engineer at the Magnavox Company, and Mr. Louie Hull, South Side physics teacher. Mr. Wright (upper left) explains the extremely complicated parts of a television set on an actual model. Mr. Hull (upper center) uses the Wilson cloud chamber which he made to illustrate his talk on radio-active material.

In the upper left picture, Jack Armstrong is speaking to the Service Club after their annual potluck. He spoke on "The Student's Place in Service at South Side."

Three faithful members of the Booster Club are shown selling in the lower left. The members have worked conscientiously at all our home games to keep hungry Archers well supplied with candy, popcorn, ice cream, and Coke.

In the lower center picture Mary Beeler is shown speaking to her fellow travelers on the Travel Club's theme for the year, "Off to the Orient."

The girls in the lower right picture are not going to a Halloween party or New Year's celebration. They are the initiates of the Library dressed as characters from familiar books available in the library.

Rifle . . . U. S. A. . . . So-Si-Y . . .

All you Annie Oakleys and Wild Bill Codys should beware of your titles, for the boys in the top two pictures are preparing to challenge you. These are members of the South Side Boys' Rifle Club pictured with their adviser, Mr. Francis Fay. The Junior Rifle Club is sponsored by the War Department, which offers ratings from pro-marksman to distinguished rifleman. In the left picture are, left to right, Dick Johnson, Jerry Klopfenstein, Lee Johnson, and Glen Burton. In the right picture are Wayne Knigge, Jack Olinske, Charles Castle, Eugene Meyers, and Richard Haines. Mr. Fay is the hands-in-the-pocket-man of both pictures.

The lower left picture was taken at the Christmas party of USA which stands for Unity, Service, and Appreciation. Here some of the more dramatically inclined members are presenting a play around the fireplace and Christmas tree. The players are, left to right, Lois Stultz, Carol Dullaghan, Gloria Madden, Janet Baals, Jo Ann Curtis, and Millicent Bright.

USA's big sister is So-Si-Y, the South Side Y club for junior and senior girls. It is So-Si-Y that sells the school stationery and senior name cards every year. They also join with Hi-Y to present our very impressive Easter assemblies. In the lower right picture are seen Sue Spears, Donna Jean Blessing, Sonia Evanoff, and Jean Crouse presenting a play at So-Si-Y's annual faculty tea.

Wranglers . . . Choir . . .

Center: After years of drinking hot water, the dancing Archers finally had a chance to drink cold Coke. For the first year at after-game dances, a Coke stand was installed and naturally made a great hit with all there. Taking advantage of the opportunity are Bob Barbieri, Kennie Gast, Larsh Rothert, and Peggy Bridges.

Lower left: The boys put on quite a minstrel show at the Wranglers annual picnic. In the pavilion at Foster Park Bob Barbieri and Phil Hoffman took turns acting the fall guy. You can make your own guesses as to who the others are.

Lower right: Mr. Drummond and Mr. Hostetler are proud papas of the latest addition to the music department. This little box is quite a combination of things for it has a radio, a slow-playing, long-playing and transcription-playing phonograph, an interplaying system between the band and choir rooms, a P.A. system, A.M., F.M., and a plug for television. Whew! And it all belongs to us.

P. T. A. . . . So-Si-Y . . . Math-Science . . . Choir . . .

Upper left: Mrs. Lee Wilks was the hard-working president of our Parent-Teacher Association this year. Here she is shown speaking before a meeting of the Home Room Mothers who planned the successful program for Back-To-School Night last October.

Upper right: One of the highlights of the year for both the members of the faculty and of So-Si-Y is the Faculty Tea held in October. Every year the girls of So-Si-Y invite the faculty members to join with them for a pleasant afternoon of conversation, entertainment, and refreshments.

Lower left: This complicated chart looks even more complicated in color, but nevertheless Mr. Paul Fulkerson, chief chemist at the Three Rivers Filtration Plant, thoroughly explained it to the members of the Math-Science Club.

Lower right: The wide open mouths indicate that the choir members are either bursting forth with beautiful song or else very bored with Hossy's jokes. The latter would never have happened, so Mr. Hostetler and the choir must be practicing to entertain us with the music we enjoy.

Philo . . . Wranglers . . . Hi-Y . . .

Philo opened the dancing season with its annual "Touchdown Twirl" following the last football game of the season. As an added attraction, a queen from among the senior members of Philo was elected by votes of the boys who attended. Vicky Turpchinoff reigned with her two attendants, Ann Evans and Joella Seibert.

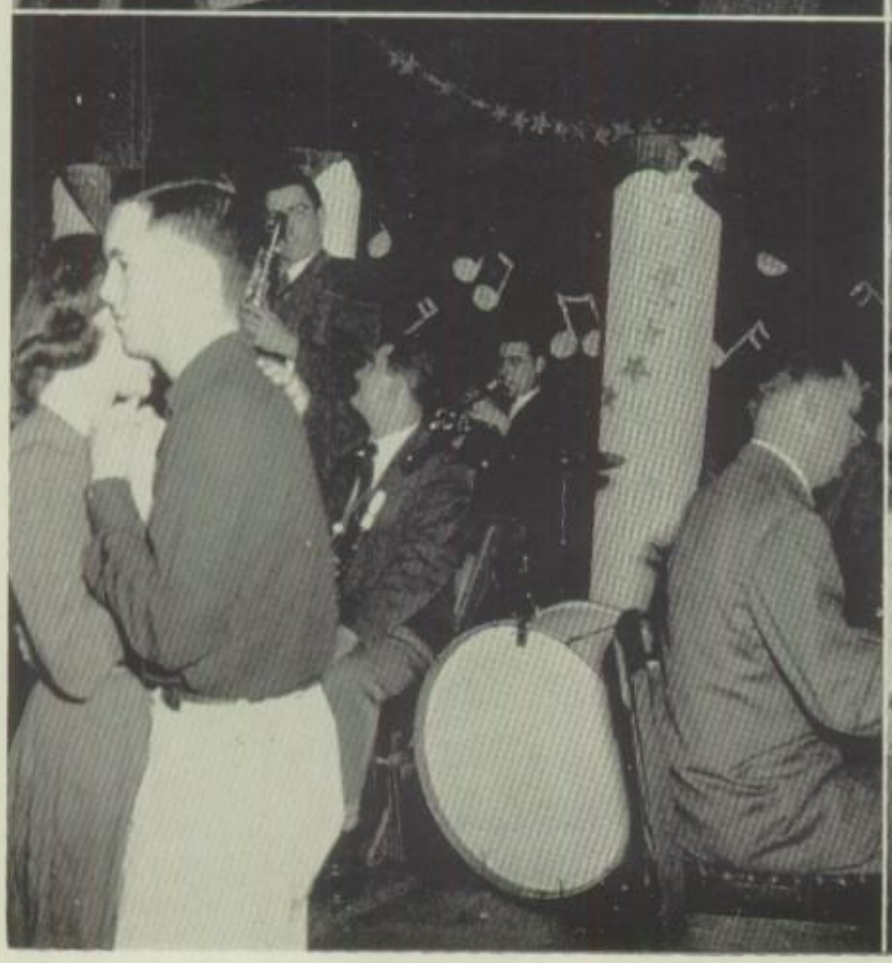
The "Queen of Hearts" dance, lower right, sponsored by Hi-Y is always popular. The boys had Room 170 beautifully decorated and even made a platform for her majesty, Joella Seibert, and her attendants Jane Hawver, Virginia Miller, Barbara Rheinfrank, and Rose Marie Maggart.



Totem '49er

The journalists of the Class of '49 have put forth all of their efforts and abilities to make their yearbook the best of all. The staff has carefully tried to capture in photographs every precious moment during the past year so that the graduating seniors may better remember South Side.

On this page (top to bottom)

Center left: The excellent circulation record was not an easy thing to attain. Those who are responsible for it are Helen Litchin, assistant circulation manager; Ruth Ann Klopfenstein, circulation manager; Carolyn Scholer, circulation manager; and Joella Seibert, assistant circulation manager.

Center right: It can never be said that these girls are lacking in persuasive ability. They are, Linda Farnham, best senior salesman; Carolyn Scholer, co-circulation manager; and Joyce Miller, best underclass salesman.

Lower left: These fellows are all familiar figures to those who are around the Totem office. They are David Neighbour, photographer; Ross Sonday, production manager; and Joe Morganthaler, assistant photographer.

Fort Wayne and the Archers can be justly proud of Miss Rowena Harvey, The South Side Times, and The Times staff. For the twenty-seventh year, Miss Harvey has come up with the winning combinations that have made and kept our school paper at the top.

During these years The Times has won many coveted honors. It has received International Honor Rating, the highest possible award, from Quill and Scroll annually since the establishment of that journalistic organization in 1926.

The National Scholastic Press Association continuously recognized The South Side Times as the best high school paper in the United States. South Side's winning all the cups prompted the NSPA to discontinue this practice and award All-American ratings. The Times has received this rating ever since.

Once again for the twenty-fifth consecutive year, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association presented the Medalist Award, its highest, to The South Side Times.

As an added honor this year, the sports page, under the editorship of Stan Knapp, won the All-Columbian award for being the best in the country among schools with an enrollment of 1,000 to 1,500.

The attainment of these high honors indicates the fine spirit necessarily surrounding The Times. Three groups in particular have made this high standard of The Times possible.

Miss Harvey is the brains behind it. It is she who has so imbued the staffs over a period of years with such high journalistic standards and sense of responsibility that the students can efficiently carry on alone while she guides them quietly and capably from the background.

The staff itself is made up of a large number of hard-working and interested students who, while cooperating remarkably with each other, give their time and effort toward the publication of the paper which holds their pride.

The third group consists of those student and faculty members who support The Times with their cooperation and subscriptions and of those Fort Wayne merchants and businessmen who have cooperated so wholeheartedly with their support.

Truly, The South Side Times is an excellent example of the cooperation and responsibility which can be found in the South Side student body.

On these two pages are shown the major staff members of the past year.

Green Gulch Sports

1849 . . . "Grab your rifles men, the injuns are coming!" Fighting the redskins was an everyday occurrence and often a matter of life and death on the long trek to California.

1949 . . . Fighting the Redskins means just another football or basketball game with North Side today. Competitive sports at South Side are a lot of fun and relaxation.

Recreation in Green Gulch...

Green Gulch is never dull due to frequent contests between its inhabitants and outsiders. Its trained squads of defenders are always ready to battle off some pesky Redskins or other desperados who invade almost every weekend.

Included in their training are many long hours of practice which thoroughly condition the teams for the big shows that follow. Besides the varsity squads, many smaller teams are formed within the gulch for community competition. These contests are less rugged, but still require a great deal of skill. They furnish good, clean recreation for all of the squads. The hearty women of the community are right in the thick of the competitive battles in their G.A.A.

For the past four years they have all fared quite well in their skirmishes. They have won two city football championships, one sectional basketball and one city track championship. Their marvelous records have been established through able leadership and a will to survive as the winner in every phase of competitive activity. The history made by the elders of the gulch will long stand remembered and cherished by the inhabitants of Green Gulch.

Now let's take a few glimpses of the townspeople and recreation in Green Gulch . . .

COACH MARION FEASEL

. . . On the Gridiron

Two city championships in a row is a feat in a lifetime for a Fort Wayne team, but that is the prize Coach Marion Feasel and the Green gridmen of '49 fought to gain. In addition, the gallant Bowmen gained permanent possession of the coveted Kiwanis Club Trophy, given to the team taking three championships.

The Archers did it the hard way. Pressed with the problem of filling nine vacant positions after the champions of the previous year had graduated, Coach Feasel did some fancy switching in the line to come up with a combination of the hardest working men in the history of the school. The champs started into the roughest schedule in years with a light, inexperienced line and a new, but capable, backfield.

The foes were met as they came and the Green's dream for another championship just seemed to fall in line as a great six won, one lost, one tie record was rung up with machine-like precision. It was only the fighting spirit of regulars and the long line of fine reserves that enabled them to hit this fine mark. The road was rocky as Bluffton and Peru in the south, and Froebel and Adams in the north, became the Archer's first four victims. A great North team was held to a tie and after bowing to a speedy Elkhart eleven, Central Catholic was whipped 28 to 14 and mighty Central received a humiliating 25 to 0 whitewash which contrasted greatly with a muddy field.

Bill Beery and Dick Brett rounded out four year careers in the cleats with sparkling performances at the halfback slots as did crafty Doug Lawrence at quarter. Arnie Hofmann filled for injured Bob Mumma at full and caught the spirit, which was shared by classmates Ev Tunget, Norm Fryback, Tom Lebamoff, Dick Eitman, and Dick Wert up front. Paul Underwood and sophomore Jerry Ellenwood took good care of their end assignments assisted by Stan Wickliffe as a tackle running mate.

Congratulations go to all the players and their fine coaches for compiling a football record which will long swell the pride of the '49ers.

. . . On the Hardwood

The Green Wave met fierce competition in its first year of play under Coach Glen Stebing, but managed to come up with an eleven won, eleven lost record against its traditionally tough opponents. Left without a starter from last year's fine team, the Archers fell victims in many close tilts, going on to chalk up sizable margins in their winning contests. The team was without a consistent starting lineup all season. It was the play of the team as a whole that brought many of the affairs out of the fire and into the win column.

Most outstanding was the fine play of scrappy Doug Lawrence and high-flying Bill Beery, who came along fast at the end of the season to finish the team's leading scorer. Don Rodenbeck, after a slow start, also finished strong and had his name placed with Beery and Lawrence on the All-City squad. Gene Towns got in plenty of licks to come in third top scorer. Dick Brett and Paul Underwood toiled hard from a guard position and were occasionally helped by Tom Skole and Merle Hettler. Big Norm Fryback worked the pivot with ease in many tilts, and Dick Saaf helped plenty on relief work.

The highlight of the campaign came on the weekend of the double defeat of Huntington and Mishawaka. Considered to be the tallest in the state, the two squads went down in defeat under the terrific pressure put on by South's sharp-shooters. A stirring victory over North preceded the double win. Two timely wins by Central all but dealt the Green cagers out of city competition, and they were forced to take third rating in the title race.

North eliminated Steb's illness-ridden men on their home court in the Sectional by the count of 46 to 36 after the Archers ousted Lafayette Central 42 to 27.

First one team and then the other seems to predominate under the boards in the second game between South and North. The Archers were the only regular season city conquerors of the City Champion Redskins.

Upper left: As the basketball season rolled along, many of the men teachers who were former basketball coaches decided it was time to step out on the gym floor and give the boys a few pointers. All twenty-one of them coached high school basketball some time in the past. They divided themselves into two teams and displayed their talents at the free-throw line. Mr. Bex was caught in action and is anxiously being watched by Mr. Bobay, Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Briner, Mr. Murphy, and Mr. Collyer (behind Mr. Bex).

Upper right: The mixed looks of wonderment, attention, sleepiness, and excitement are never uncommon in the crowds which assemble at the basketball contests. The games and pep sessions given during the year were thought to be some of the finest ever presented at the school.

Lower left: The baton-twirlers seem to steal the show much of the time at the basketball games. The gym never heard such a rage of laughter as when they discovered that this group of feminine tossers were hoax performers. Those at this pep session will never forget the "girls" as they are pictured. They are, front row, left to right: Dolly Underwood, captain; Skoits Beery; Dimples Clark; and Zazu McDonald; second row: Tilly Brett, Heddy Burch, Penelope Carrier, Talula Salzman, and Peaches Pierce.

Lower right: The so-called "officials" in the grandstands were given a chance to prove that they knew the game well during one pep session. It didn't turn out so well, though, and Bob McDonald doesn't seem to like that finger of accusation which is being pointed at him by a "planted" referee, Tom Jones. The Seniors took the inter-class tourney games at this pep session. The other members of the team urging Bob on are Marv Ramage, Jack Enyeart, Don Erwin, Stan Knapp, and Bob Mumma.

. . . On the Cinder Track

A fine conditioned crew of stars, as a result of the careful instruction and help of Coach George Collyer, was able to make 1949 another banner year for South Side in the most ancient of all sports, track. After a training and conditioning period which extended over a period of many months, the thinly-clads, many that were highly respected in cross-country in the fall, took to the outdoor sport with ease and soon gained state-wide attention by their early efforts.

The Green won three dual meets with Wabash, Elkhart, and Mishawaka to start the ball rolling. John LaBrash, in his third year of stellar performances on the cinders, kept himself in the spotlight all season with a great 2:00.7 half-mile against Mishawaka. He also anchored the Archer's mile relay squad to many wins. Bill Beery continued to shine in his final year of competition by whipping the state's best in the broad and high jump and pushing down the time in the high hurdles. John Yoder filled in early for Tom Jones, who had to nurse a bad leg all year, and gathered in a good share of the points in the mile.

The squad continued to chill backbones with their performance in the Goshen Relays, and also the Kokomo Relays, the City Meet, several other dual meets, the Sectionals, the Regionals, and the Finals which followed but came too late for final results to be known. Among the outstanding field men were Dick Brett, Doug Lawrence, Bob Mumma, and Everett Tunget. Brett was pushed toward 12 feet in the pole vault in his final year by Lawrence who followed close behind. Mumma and Tunget gave South fine representation in the shot put with hefty heaves of over 49 feet.

Times in the dash events were somewhat weaker than usual, but Keith Darby in the 100 and 220, and Alex Tsiguloff in the 220 often managed to unfurl the Green banners at the finish line. They teamed with Tom Skole and Merle Hettler in clicking off the half-mile relay. Paul Underwood, Jack Enyeart, and Paul Krick fared well in the 440 and rounded out the mile relay squad.

He's a swell fellow in English class.

. . . In Intramural Sports

How well the intramural sports program has succeeded toward its goal of providing healthful recreation and conditioning through a well-rounded schedule of activities can be seen in the continually expanding number of sports added each year to the program.

The aim of providing an outlet for sports-minded boys not quite expert enough for varsity sports has become a realization. On these pages, a few of the highlights of the 1948-1949 intramural season are shown. We congratulate the boys whose participation made this program possible and especially we cheer hard-working, conscientious Louis Briner, the tireless leader of these activities at South Side.

. . . For the "Wimmenfolk"

The Girls' Athletic Association has completed another successful year. Much of the credit goes to the two popular ladies in the upper left picture, Mrs. Alice Keegan and Miss Helen Pohlmeyer. Way back last September, six girls stepped into the office to make up the GAA executive board. They are, in the upper right picture, Shirley Smelser, freshman representative; Marilyn Mitchell, publicity; Ruth Ehle, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy Trempel, president; Beth Waller, vice-president; and Pat Bushong, sports manager.

When GAA held its annual Halloween Party, the girls came dressed funnier than ever. Kate Garrison took first prize dressed as a "hick." Remember how the taffy from those apples stuck to your teeth, but they were so good!

Speedball was followed by the much-liked sport of basketball. Again the Seniors won in Upperclass GAA. This time Team 1, captained by Sue Beery, took highest honor in Freshman GAA. In the lower right-hand corner on the next page, the Senior basketball champs are shown. They are, first row: Beth Waller; Dorothy Trempel; Marilyn Burnham, captain; Susie Brayer; and Virginia Davies; next row: Dorothy Hollman, Joan Knobeloch, Liz Bendel, Joan Giffin, and Bonnie Schultz. The freshman champs are pictured in the middle, left pictures on the opposite page. They are, first row: Sharon Farlow, Sue Beery, and Dorothy Dressel; second row: Marilyn Dunifon, Maxine Blanks, Barbara Thompson, Beverly Grulach, and Shirley Richards.

After the regular basketball season was over, each class selected its eight best players to participate in the basketball honor tournament. After waiting and losing for three years, a determined group of Seniors pulled through to top glory. Pictured in the upper, left-hand picture on the next paeg are the winners: Susie Brayer; Carolyn Shaffer; Liz Bendel; Marilyn Burnham, captain; Gloria Ebersole; and Dot Trempel. Jane McDonald and Arlene Woods were also on the team.

In January, instead of the usual recognition service, there was a potluck-banquet, "Winter Windup." Here some of the girls received their numerals, others their letters, and a lucky few received their 2000-point pins. Everyone laughed, sang, talked, and ate, thinking it was mighty nice.

Then the volleyball season came. Those Seniors just couldn't be stopped! Again they took honors in Upperclass GAA; while Team 2, led by Bonnie Brenneman, went ahead to win the Freshman crown. The Senior winners, pictured in the lower, left-hand picture on the next page, are, front row: Dorothy Hollman; Marilyn Burnham, captain; and Beth Waller; back row: Joan Knobeloch, Joan Giffin, Liz Bendel, Susie Brayer, and Dorothy Trempel. The freshmen champs are Carolyn Arthur, Dorothy Blair, Virginia Clendenen, Patty Coulter, Donna Erhardt, Wanda Golliver, Mary Kiracofe, Carol Kitzmiller, Carole Lariot, Mary Mader, Carlene Marker, Shirley Richard, Janet Rison, Eugenia Russ, Marjorie Schmeding, Marjorie Smith, and Mary Vegors.

Tumbling, with sore muscles, followed volleyball, and then came track. Baseball with plenty of home runs ended the season. Of course, there were the usual tournaments: ping pong, tennis, and badminton. Gloria Ebersole, who has a mighty mean serve, took tennis championship; and Bonnie Russell, the girl that really makes that ping pong ball fly, took that tournament.

The advanced modern ballet group, not shown, was exceptionally good this year. Approximately thirty girls participated in the dance.

In the lower right are the girls who helped with the decorations and ushering. Mrs. Keegan, standing, supervised the work. Seated are Dorothy Hollman; Dorothy Trempel; Marilyn Burnham; Shirley Brateman; Mary Jane Pierce, who made "Yankee Doodle Dandy"; Mary Jane Mawhorter; and Katie Garrison.

"Yankee Doodle Swing", spring show given by the girls' physical education department, drew one of the largest crowds in many years. One of the best parts of the show was the tumbling group. The girls again tumbled on the mats and on the trampoline for the third year. In the upper left is the finale of the tumbling act.

Many girls took part in the dancing. In the upper right is a formation of the Minuet. This was the prettiest dance of the show. The girls first formed groups of four, then small circles, and finally one large circle.

Schoolmasters and Schoolmarms

Schoolmasters and Schoolmarms

1849 . . . The teacher in California in the '49er Gold Rush days traveled from one small log schoolhouse to another. One teacher often served a dozen communities and taught all of the grades.

1949 . . . A staff of seventy teachers in a huge building that covers a full city block spend over nine months teaching the students of today.

In spite of all the gab fests, note passing, and sharpening of pencils, the library is the best place to study after all.

Every year the teachers forget their official titles and really have fun at their annual potluck. This year they held a '49er election and some teachers made campaign speeches for other teachers that were running for office.

Upper left: Here we see Mr. Null having a little trouble with his apron as Mrs. Fleck downs a cup of coffee and Mrs. Welty hands out doughtnuts.

Upper right: From the looks of things, all the teachers have definitely decided which candidate to cast their vote for.
